"I would never have believed I would accept anything I hadn't earned. That was the ethic in my growing up."

The political situation in Nigeria forced Greg and his family to leave their beautiful home and everything they had built together, giving them no choice but to start again from scratch in the UK. The Benevolent Fund provided the support Greg needed to rebuild his life.

For over 20 years Greg ran a successful consultancy in Nigeria. Eventually the political situation forced him and his wife to leave the country, and their house which was by then virtually worthless. The ICE Benevolent Fund was able to offer Greg accommodation at its estate in West Sussex and also awarded him a grant to cover essential expenditure and keep him going until he began earning once again.

He is now back on his feet — and working harder than ever in an interesting and rewarding career!

Says Greg "I would never have believed I would accept anything I hadn't earned. That was the ethic in my growing up. But the Ben Fund handled things so well I didn't feel it then or now."

YOUR HOME AND A SUPPORTIVE COMMUNITY

We all need a place to call home. But life's challenges can sometimes catch us out, leaving us without a means to keep a roof above our heads.

Your home underpins your health and your well-being. We're here to offer the comfort and security of bricks and mortar to civil engineers who are suffering from difficulties and are looking for a new place to call home.

Mill Hill Close — Housing for the benefit of civil engineers

Built for the benefit of civil engineers and their families, Mill Hill Close is a beautiful estate of properties in the leafy West Sussex town of Haywards Heath, just 45 minutes from London and 12 miles from the sea.

Designed to provide housing for Engineers returning from the Second World War and for the families of civil engineers who had properties destroyed in the blitz, it now provides a safe haven for ICE members and their families.

Life at Mill Hill Close

There are 33 properties situated in close proximity to excellent transport links and within walking distance to local amenities.

Haywards Heath is surrounded by beautiful countryside including the Ashdown Forest and the South Downs National Park.

The estate was designed by Harold Turner, a celebrated local Architect. Sir Edwin Lutyens, often referred to as “the greatest British Architect” also collaborated on the scheme and the communal garden lay-out. “Turner-style” homes are much sought after today.
